

ABSTRACT

Flat seal, in particular cylinder head seal, for combustion engines is disclosed having at least one metal layer, in which at least one which pass-through opening is made. An outer sealing function is achieved by provision of several circumferential, parallel profile sums of selectable shape in the area near the outer edge of the metal layer.